So do your contact details

New legislation next year means that we might need you to agree it's still alright to stay in touch with you.

All UK organisations may have to check with their communities as to how they prefer to be contacted. We value you as part of the Farleigh family, and don't want you to miss out on future opportunities, events and projects at your old school.

Please confirm your current details and help us to understand how you like to hear from us, then return this form in the enclosed freepost envelope:

We will continue sending you the Society Newsletter and occasional mailings as part of your membership of the Society and school community.

This includes alumni updates, occasional event and reunion news, occasional school projects which need your help, and news on ways to volunteer. (If you prefer not to receive any of these types of post, please detail this below.)

Please confirm your email address if you're (still) happy receiving occasional emails. Without your (re-)confirmation, many UK organisations will have to stop emailing you next May.

Email saves costs and trees; the termly Farleigh Tree newsletter and occasional project and event updates share school news and put you in touch with other alumni. We never swap or sell your information and you can change your preferences at any time. (To decline certain types of email, please delete any of the following:)

Farleigh Tree Newsletter | Occasional event and reunion news | Occasional school projects which need your help | Occasional news on ways to volunteer.
